Ute Tribe buys 431 shares Rock Creek stock

Almost a year ago when the Ute Tribe announced its willingness to purchase the stock in Rock Creek Cattle Association and Antelope Sheep Range companies, which were owned by the Affiliated Ute Citizens, there were 490 shares of each company outstanding. One share for each member of the mixed blood group.

Each month a number of the people sold their shares of stock to the Ute Tribe at a set price of $550 per share in each of the companies, or $1,100 for both shares.

Last month the Ute Tribe passed a resolution to the effect that shares of this stock would be purchased by the Tribe until November 11, 1961.

A report from the Resources office shows that to date the Ute Tribe has purchased 431 shares of stock in each company. There are still some 59 shares still owned by the Mixed Blood group. These are the stocks of 20 minors whose stock is held by the First Security Bank, of 8 deceased persons and these owned by some 31 Affiliated Utes who are holding their stock. —(Ute Bulletin)
